The Benefits of Public Power

PUD Commissioners Molly Simpson, Aaron Viebrock and Ron Skagen

Public Power benefits the communities they serve. Not only do we provide utility service on a not-for-profit basis, customers elect local commissioners who set rates and hire a manager to direct the operations of the utility. This provides local control over the utility and responsiveness to community needs.

Collecting fair and reasonable rates allows the District to provide a reliable and safe power system. For decades, PUD customers have invested in utility assets like Wells Dam, power lines, switchyards and substations that serve our local residents and small businesses. The rates you pay help build and maintain the infrastructure necessary to make the PUD's electric system work.

Douglas PUD is fortunate to own and operate the Wells Hydroelectric Project, which allows the PUD to sell excess generation outside of Douglas County. The revenues generated from sales outside Douglas County are used to keep our retail rates lower for our customer owners. Rates are adjusted for inflationary pressure on goods and services, electrical infrastructure maintenance, new construction projects, operational risks, regulatory changes and many other factors. Ensuring a reasonable balance between retail and wholesale sales is critical to the long-term health of the PUD. - Continued on page 2.

October 1-7 is Public Power Week... and we have reason to celebrate!

Like more than 2,000 utilities across the country, we are powered by a community-owned, not-for-profit public power utility. During Public Power Week, we celebrate the benefits of living in a public power community including:

- Low rates
- High reliability
- Dedicated, local service
- Community focus
- Economic development
- Local decision-making

Benefits of Public Power - Continued

The PUD is going through a public rate hearing process which examines the various rates charged to our customer-owners. Our goal is to balance the charges in a fair, non-discriminatory, cost-based and predictable approach. Please join us as we review all of these important factors with your PUD Commissioners. These open public meetings are the second and fourth Tuesday of each month at 1:30 p.m. in the East Wenatchee office. More details will be posted on our website www.douglaspud.org and social media accounts.

Thank you for partnering with us to help our communities grow and prosper.
